Medical films

The medical and surgical market has been steadily moving towards single-use disposable products for reasons of hygiene and safety for both patients and operating room personnel.

As an established supplier within this sector, we provide a variety of flexible films for a number of these critical medical and surgical applications.

Typically these feature as a composite layer in the manufacture of patient and equipment drapes / covers and in surgical gowns.

Strength and patient comfort combine in films which are available in single or twin colour polyethylene and polypropylene blends.

Hygiene films

Britton Taco is a major global player in the supply of films for the hygiene disposables market for personal hygiene products.

Typical applications include baby diaper, adult incontinence, and feminine hygiene / femcare products.

Our understanding of the need to combine softness, comfort and strength has produced advanced film products to suit every requirement.

We set the standard in femcare where discretion, protection and 'look and feel' are paramount.
